

17 July 2017

Dear Shareholder,

Over the past few months, a number of shareholders have asked me why I have been consistently buying Future Generation Global Investment Company Limited (ASX: FGG) shares.

The main reasons are:

1. Like most Australians, I am underweight in my exposure to global equities.
2. FGG provides exposure to the best global fund managers without paying them management or performance fees.
3. FGG's investment portfolio is highly diversified in terms of its investment strategies, asset classes, sectors and geographic regions and its volatility is lower than that of the benchmark, so I am taking less risk.
4. I strongly believe in the ability of our 13 global fund managers to perform over the medium-to-long term.
5. I am passionate about investing in Australia's mental health industry.

Also, at the recent share price range the market has presented the opportunity to purchase additional shares at a discount to the company's pre-tax net tangible assets of 114.66c*.

I have been buying FGG shares below $1.10 as I own FGG options and I have the opportunity to exercise the FGG options and pay $1.10 if required.

Optionholders have the ability to purchase additional FGG shares for $1.10 at any time until 15 September 2017 without paying brokerage fees.

If you would like to discuss FGG, please call me or Louise Walsh on (02) 9247 6755 or email info@futuregeninvest.com.au.

Yours sincerely,

Geoff Wilson
Founder and Director
Future Generation Global Investment Company

*As at 30 June 2017